

Your own client & admin portal

Every screen in this document is from a portal we built and run for a bridal hair & makeup artist in the GTA. It is the starting point, not the finished product: your version is shaped around how you work. This first page lists what we can add, change, or leave out.

MADE YOURS, IN EVERY BUILD

- Your brand throughout
Colours, fonts, logo, wording and tone, on every page and every email the portal sends.
- Your agreement, your policies
Retainer percentage, cancellation and rescheduling terms, photo consent, travel rules, written the way you want them.
- Your prep guides
Hair and skin preparation guides rewritten in your voice, with your do's and don'ts.
- Your services & event types
Hair, makeup, or both; bridal, engagement, reception, editorial, or whatever you offer, on your own domain.

ADD-ONS WE CAN BUILD FOR YOU

- 1 Card payments inside the portal
Brides pay the retainer and balance by card or Apple Pay. Payments mark themselves received. E-transfer stays as an option.
- 2 Automatic reminders
Email or text nudges: retainer not yet received, intake still unfinished, prep guide the week before, balance due, timeline the night before.
- 3 Multi-event bookings
One bride, several events (mehndi, sangeet, wedding, reception), each with its own date, party, timeline and balance.
- 4 Trial appointment step
Book the trial, then record what worked: products and shades used, photos, notes. It becomes the look record for the day.
- 5 Assistant access
Assistants sign in and see only the profiles and timeline for the days they're assigned. Each artist gets her own schedule.
- 6 Calendar sync
Bookings and call times land in your Google or Apple calendar. The bride can add her morning schedule to hers.
- 7 Enquiry to booking, no re-typing
Your website's enquiry form feeds a leads list in the studio. One tap turns an enquiry into a client and sends the invite.
- 8 Receipts & year-end export
A branded receipt emails itself when you mark a payment received. One export of the year's payments for your accountant.
- 9 Date availability on your website
Visitors check whether their date is open before enquiring, straight from your bookings.
- 10 After-the-event follow-up
A thank-you note, a Google review request and a photo-consent reminder, sent on a schedule you set.
- 11 Messages in one place
A thread per client inside the portal, so questions stop scattering across DMs, texts and email. You get an email when she writes.
- 12 Agreement amendments
When the party size or services change, issue an addendum with the new amounts for a fresh e-signature.
- 13 Travel distance helper
Distance from your base to the getting-ready address, shown when you set the travel fee. The fee is always yours to decide.
- 14 Studio insights
Bookings by month, booked versus collected, and where your brides come from.

And anything can come out.

The party share link, the approval step, prep guides, the timeline builder, client-type flags, private notes: if a piece doesn't fit how you work, we leave it out. The portal should feel like your studio, not a piece of software.

What the portal does, at a glance

Two sides of one system: a private portal for each bride, and a studio dashboard for you. Everything lives on your own website address.

FOR EACH BRIDE

- ◆ Personal invite link. She sets a password once; no account to hunt for.
- ◆ A six-step journey that unlocks in order: agreement, retainer, intake, guides, timeline, final payment.
- ◆ E-signed service agreement with her booking details and amounts frozen in, plus a printable copy.
- ◆ Retainer and balance with e-transfer instructions and live status.
- ◆ Intake that saves as she types: event details, her own look profile, and a profile for every person being styled.
- ◆ Photo uploads for a current selfie plus makeup and hair inspiration, stored privately.
- ◆ One shareable party link so bridesmaids and mom fill in their own details. No accounts for them.
- ◆ Documents on demand: signed agreement, hair guide, skin guide, and her getting-ready timeline, each unlocked at the right moment.
- ◆ Notes from you when something needs a second look, right on her intake.
- ◆ Built for her phone. Every screen is designed at phone width first.

FOR YOU

- ◆ Add a booking in a minute. Name, date, address, party size, your quote. The retainer and balance calculate themselves.
- ◆ Invite link, copied or emailed, and re-issued with one tap if it expires.
- ◆ Clients list sorted by event date with days-to-go, invite status, and past or archived clients tucked away.
- ◆ Review queue. Every signed agreement, intake and party profile lands here. Approve, or request changes with a note she sees.
- ◆ Email alert the moment a bride submits something.
- ◆ Per-client workspace with tabs: overview, intake, agreement, timeline, documents, payments, private notes.
- ◆ Timeline builder: time slots by artist and person, notes for a smooth morning, publish when ready, or attach your own PDF.
- ◆ Mark payments received and the bride's journey updates itself. The prep guides unlock automatically.
- ◆ Private notes and an easy / medium / hard flag the client never sees.
- ◆ Archive or permanently delete a client, photos included.
- ◆ Automatic weekly backups and password resets that just work.

Under the hood, briefly.

Each bride can only ever see her own data. Photos are in private storage and open through short-lived links. Party links expire and can be switched off. Deleting a client erases every form, photo and login, which keeps you onside with Canadian privacy law (PIPEDA). Portal pages are hidden from Google.

The journey, from first enquiry to the wedding morning

What happens on your side and on the bride's side at each step. Each step is shown on the pages that follow.

STEP	YOU, IN THE STUDIO	THE BRIDE, IN HER PORTAL
1 ENQUIRY	Bride enquires through your website or Instagram. You quote her the way you always do.	She hears back from you, as today.
2 BOOKING	You add her in the studio: date, address, party size, your quote. The portal creates her retainer and balance, and her invite link.	She receives a welcome email with a personal link, valid for 7 days.
3 REGISTRATION	Nothing to do. Her card in your list changes from "Invite pending" to registered.	She opens the link, chooses a password, and lands on her journey.
4 AGREEMENT	A "Signed agreement" item appears in your review queue and you get an email. One tap confirms it.	She reads the agreement with her details filled in, chooses photo consent, types her name, signs.
5 RETAINER	The e-transfer arrives in your bank. You mark it received. Her prep guides unlock on their own.	She sends 30% by e-transfer to the address shown. Her step turns green when you confirm.
6 INTAKE	Nothing yet. You can watch profiles arrive as the party fills them in.	She completes event details, her own look profile with photos, and adds her party, or shares the party link so each person does their own.
7 REVIEW	Everything she submitted is in your queue. Approve, or request changes with a note. Approve all in one tap.	She sees "Awaiting review", then "Approved", or your note with a "Revise my answers" button.
8 PREPARATION	You build her getting-ready timeline slot by slot, preview it, and publish. You can add a private note about her party.	Her hair and skin guides are in Documents. Her timeline appears once you publish.
9 FINAL PAYMENT	You mark the balance received. Her journey is complete.	She sends the balance before the day. Every document stays available to her.
10 AFTER THE DAY	Archive her, or delete her permanently if she asks. A weekly backup runs on its own.	Her portal stays open for the signed agreement and documents.

Add a booking in a minute

You enter what you already know from the enquiry. The portal does the arithmetic and prepares her invite.

Studio > New client. Three short groups: client, event, quote.

Your quote, your numbers

You type professional services and travel. Retainer (30%) and balance are calculated and shown before you save. The percentage is yours to change.

One button does the rest

"Create client & invite link" creates her record, her two payment lines, her four document slots, her own profile, and emails her the invite.

No duplicates

A second client with the same email is stopped with a clear message.

Edit any time

Everything here can be changed later from the client's Overview tab. Amounts already signed for stay frozen in the agreement.

Step 2: The invite

Her personal link, copied or emailed

The moment a booking is created you see her invite link. The same link goes to her inbox in a branded email.

Links expire in 7 days

A used or expired link stops working. From her Overview tab, "New invite link" issues a fresh one and emails it again.

Sent from your address

Emails go out from your own domain, so they arrive in her inbox rather than junk.

Copy for WhatsApp

Most brides reply on WhatsApp or Instagram. The copy button gives you the link to paste wherever the conversation is.

Studio > Client created. Copy the link to paste into WhatsApp, or open her client page.

The welcome email she receives, in your brand.

She sets a password and she is in

The invite opens a page with her email already filled in. She chooses a password and lands on her journey.

This Service Agreement ("Agreement") is entered into between Ash Sandhu Allure ("Artist") and the undersigned client ("Client") for the provision of professional hair and/or makeup services on the date(s) indicated below.

1. Booking & Retainer Fee
A non-refundable retainer fee of 30% of the total service fee is required to confirm your booking. Your date will not be secured until the retainer has been received. The retainer is applied toward the first balance of your service.

2. Travel & Accommodation
A travel fee, based on the distance from the Artist's location to the service location, is added to the final invoice. For events that require the Artist to travel beyond the Greater Toronto Area, all travel and accommodation arrangements and costs are the responsibility of the Client.

3. Face & Hair Preparation
Clients must ensure their face and/or hair is clean, product-free, dry, and blow-dried prior to the service, unless a blow-dry has been explicitly booked. Failure to do so may result in an additional charge based on the time and effort required on the day of the event.

4. Final Payment

5. Rescheduling, Ready-Time Changes & Cancellations
The Client may change the event date or ready time at no cost, provided the request is made at least four (4) weeks before the booked service date and is subject to the Artist's availability. 6. Client Responsibility & Timeliness
The Client is responsible for ensuring that all individuals receiving services are ready and present at the agreed time. Any delays caused by the Client may result in reduced service time or additional charges.

7. Photography & Promotion Consent
The Client agrees or does not agree (as selected below) to allow photographs of the final hair and/or makeup look to be used for the Artist's professional portfolio, website, and social media.

8. Allergies & Liability Release
The Client must inform the Artist in advance of any allergies or sensitivities. If the Artist is not informed, the Artist holds no liability for any resulting reaction. The Artist is not liable for circumstances beyond their reasonable control.

By signing below, the Client confirms that they have read, understood, and agreed to the terms and conditions outlined in this Agreement, and acknowledges that it is binding upon signature.

Step 6 · The party link

One link for the whole bridal party

The bride shares a single link. Each bridesmaid, mom or sister fills in her own profile and photos in about three minutes. No accounts, no passwords.

Where most of them will fill it in.

Their details go straight to the intake

A submitted profile appears in the bride's party list and in your review queue at the same moment.

Expires and can be switched off

The link expires 30 days after the event date. The bride can turn it off any time and make a new one.

Privacy handled

A purpose statement and privacy policy link sit above "Send my details". The party member can ask for her details to be removed, and the bride or you can delete any profile, photos included.

Step 6 · The party link

The bride manages it, you never have to Creating, copying and revoking the link happens on her side. Submissions are listed as they arrive.

Copy and paste into the group chat

A single "Copy link" button. Brides typically drop it in the bridesmaids' WhatsApp group.

Nothing for them to install

Bridesmaids never create an account. The link is the whole experience.

Visible progress

She sees each submitted name with its status, and can open any profile to tidy it up before you review.

Her Party Link page: live link, copy, turn off, and who has submitted so far.

The thank-you a bridesmaid sees after sending.

Everything she submits waits for you in one queue

Signed agreements, intake forms and party profiles arrive here grouped by bride. You approve, or ask for changes with a note.

Three buttons

"View" opens her page on the right tab. "Approve" confirms it. "Request changes" sends a note she sees on her intake.

Approve all

When a whole party lands at once, one button approves every item for that bride.

A live badge

The Review tab shows how many items are waiting, on every studio page.

The alert you receive. One email per submission burst, not one per profile.

Studio > Review, with "Request changes" open on an intake.

The queue on your phone.

Your note lands on her intake

A change request is not an email she has to find. It sits at the top of her intake with a button to revise, and her step shows "Changes requested".

Her intake with your note and "Revise my answers".

Studio > Client > Intake: her event details, the review box, and every profile with its status.

Review from her page too

The Intake tab has the same approve and request-changes controls, next to the answers, so you can read then decide.

Per-profile approval

Each party member has her own status. Approve one at a time or "Approve all pending profiles".

Edits re-queue themselves

If a bride edits an approved profile, it returns to "Awaiting review" on its own. Nothing slips past you.

You can edit any profile

Open a profile and fix a typo, add a note, or upload a trial photo yourself.

Every profile, with photos, in your studio

Open a party member from the Intake tab to see exactly what she filled in, with her photos, and approve from the same screen.

The same form you already know

Bride, party member, party link and your own edits all use one form, so nothing is ever in a different place.

Trial-day ready

Keep the phone open on this page during the trial: skin, hair, foundation, allergies and inspiration are all there.

Photos in full

Tap any thumbnail to see it large. Links to Pinterest open in a new tab.

Add-on idea

The trial step on page 1 would add a "products and shades used" record and trial photos here.

Studio > Client > Intake > Priya (Bride). Editable, with "Save profile" and "Approve".

Step 8 · Preparation

Hair and skin guides, unlocked at the right moment

Your preparation guides live in her Documents and unlock when the retainer arrives. Branded, on-screen, and printable.

Written once, in your words

We put your guidance in: night-before washing, no product, button-down top, no new skincare that week, and so on.

You decide what she sees

The Docs tab on her client page toggles each document visible or hidden with one tap.

Every document has a print button, and the page prints cleanly without the portal frame.

STEP 8 · TIMELINE

19

What she sees the night before

Her timeline appears as step five on her journey and in her Documents, on her phone, printable for the getting-ready suite.

Everyone on the same page

The bride can print it or screenshot it for her party. No more "what time am I?" messages.

Your notes travel with it

"Arrive with clean, dry, product-free hair", "breakfast and water on hand", or whatever you always have to repeat.

One toggle per document

Agreement, timeline, hair guide, skin guide: visible or hidden, per client.

Her timeline: every slot by artist, and your notes for a smooth morning.

On her phone.

Studio > Client > Docs: which documents are visible to her right now.

Close the booking, keep the record

Mark the balance received and her journey is complete. Afterwards, archive her, or erase everything if she asks.

The screenshot shows the 'Overview' tab for a client named Priya Sharma. The page includes a 'Portal Access' section indicating she is registered and can sign in. Below this is a form with various fields: Full Name (Priya Sharma), Email (priya.sharma@example.com), Phone (+1 (416) 555-0142), Services (Hair & Makeup), Event Type (Wedding), Event Date (11/14/2026), Booked / Call Time (06:30 AM), Ready-by Time (11:30 AM), Getting-ready Address (88 Harbour St, Toronto), Party Size (6), Professional Services ($2450), and Travel ($120). At the bottom, there are buttons for 'Save Changes', 'Archive Client', and 'Delete Permanently'. The client type is set to 'Easy'.

Studio > Client > Overview: portal access, every booking field, client type, then Save, Archive, or Delete permanently.

The screenshot shows the 'Notes' tab for the same client, Priya Sharma. It displays a text area with the following note: 'Prefers a soft-glam look — loved the dewy finish from her trial. Mom is sensitive to fragrance; bring the unscented setting spray. Venue elevator is slow, allow 10 extra minutes.' Below the text area is a 'Save Notes' button.

Private notes. Only you ever see these.

Balance, same as retainer

The Payments tab has the same "Mark received" for the final balance. Her last step turns green.

Archive keeps, delete erases

Archive tucks her under "past & archived" with everything intact. "Delete permanently" removes every form, photo and her login, after two confirmations.

Notes and a quiet flag

Preferences, reminders, and an easy / medium / hard client type that shows as a small dot on your clients list. Never visible to her.

Your studio

Your clients, sorted by what is coming next

The studio home is a list of upcoming events with days to go. Past and archived clients are one tap away.

Studio > Clients. Invite status, event summary, days to go, and the client-type dot.

On your phone.

Built for a phone in one hand

Every studio page works at phone width, so you can approve a profile between clients.

Settings you own

Change your e-transfer address or alert email yourself. No developer needed.

Sign-in, kept simple

Email and password, with a reset link that emails itself. Passwords are changed from Settings.

Studio > Settings: e-transfer address shown to brides, where alerts go, your password.

Her settings, and a reset that just works

The bride can update her phone number and change her password. Name and email changes go through you, so records stay clean.

Behind the scenes, and what happens next

The parts you never see but would miss: security, privacy, backups, and how a build like this runs.

SECURITY & PRIVACY

- ◆ Each bride sees only her own data. Enforced by the database itself, not just by the screens.
- ◆ Sensitive notes are separate. Your private notes and client-type flags live in a table only you can read.
- ◆ Photos are private. Stored in a private bucket and opened through links that expire after an hour.
- ◆ Party links are revocable and expiring. Invite links are single-use and expire in 7 days.
- ◆ Erasement is real. Deleting a client removes every form, photo and login, which is what PIPEDA expects when someone asks to be forgotten.
- ◆ Nothing indexed. Every portal page is hidden from search engines.

RELIABILITY

- ◆ Weekly automatic backups of every table, kept for 12 weeks and emailed to you.
- ◆ Branded email from your own domain for invites, alerts and password resets.
- ◆ Runs on managed cloud services (Vercel and Supabase), so there is no server for anyone to babysit.

HOW WE WOULD DO THIS WITH YOU

- ◆ 1 · A short call. We walk through this document, you tell us what you want in, out, and added.
- ◆ 2 · Your brand and your words. Colours, fonts, logo, your agreement terms and your prep guides.
- ◆ 3 · Build. We stand up your portal on your domain and load your first real booking together.
- ◆ 4 · A test run. You play the bride on your phone, we adjust wording and order until it feels like you.
- ◆ 5 · Launch, then care. We stay on hand for tweaks, keep backups running, and add the additions when you are ready.

A note on the screens in this document.

They are from the live portal we built for Arsh Sandhu Allure, shown with demo names and placeholder photos. Your portal would carry your brand, your terms and your wording from the first screen to the last.
